Andy Madsen will retire from Nampa & Meridian Irrigation District later this month after 32 years of service with the Treasure Valley's largest irrigation district, NMID officials have announced.

Madsen, 68, began his career with NMID as a ditch rider in February 1987 and has worked his way up to Assistant Water Superintendent.

"We are sorry to lose Andy after so many years of outstanding service. He has an outstanding understanding of our entire canal and drain systems that we really count on. We sure do hate to lose that knowledge, but, we wish him the very best in retirement. We will miss him," said Daren Coon, NMID Secretary Treasurer.

Madsen says he looks forward to being able to sleep in. He and his wife Holli also plan to travel around the country. He also is eager to spend time in Arizona away from Idaho's cold weather.

The couple live in Meridian and have eight children including three step-children and 10 grandchildren.

A successor as Assistant Water Superintendent will be named later, NMID officials said.
