Elke Adams of Nampa has been named as the new Assistant Secretary Treasurer of the Treasure Valley's largest irrigation district, officials with the Nampa & Meridian Irrigation District announced.

In her new duties, Adams will also serve as the Assistant Secretary of the Board of Directors of NMID. She replaces Suzy Hewlett who retired in December.

“Adams is now in her 20th year of service with the District. She started out in the District's Collection Department and then for the past 19 years has worked in our Accounting Department largely as our senior accountant. She also brings a significant background in many other administrative functions of the District to her new duties,” noted Daren Coon, NMID Secretary Treasurer, in making the announcement.

Adams and her husband, Ed, have two sons and a brand new granddaughter. She has numerous other interests including travel, downhill skiing and bicycling.

The Nampa & Meridian Irrigation District is a water storage, conveyance and distribution system founded in 1904 and serves more approximately 38,000 property owners. NMID supplies irrigation water to some 69,000 acres of farmland, residential and commercial lands including pressurized irrigation for more than 16,000 individual parcels of land in Ada and Canyon counties.
