Due to operational issues involving the New York Canal, a facility of the Boise Project Board of Control, the New York Canal has been shut down and may be down for three days. Because the operation of the New York Canal affects delivery of water in Nampa & Meridian Irrigation District; especially the farther western portion of Nampa & Meridian Irrigation District then the District's ability to deliver water is affected.

Your patience in dealing with this operation issue is greatly appreciated.

The Nampa & Meridian Irrigation District (NMID) is a water storage, conveyance, and distribution system founded in 1904 that supplies irrigation water to some 69,000 acres of farms, lawns, and gardens in Canyon and Ada Counties.
